TO FARMERS.
Address of Senator Crenshaw at Our Farmer's Institute.

It is one of the functions of government to foster those industries which are beneficial to the people as a body. The Federal Government has spent millions and millions of dollars upon the rivers and harbors of this great country of ours and has appropriated millions of acres of the public land and lent the public credit to foster commerce. It has encouraged inventors by granting patent rights. Indeed a whole catalog of industries is protected, encouraged and promoted by the Government, but we will confine ourselves to agriculture.

Land has been given to people upon which to build homes thereby encouraging agriculture, which is one of the most important, if not the most important, factor in this or any other government. And it has not only given the right to homestead the public lands but it established at Wash. D. C. a Bureau for the dissemination of literature among farmers throughout the country, and for the collecting of seeds, and bulbs, experimenting with them and distributing those which are found to be adapted to this country and useful, so that the farmers might have the benefits of these experiments. We have now the most diversified farming of any country on the earth. We have got not only the plants originally found here, but have gone among the heathen and barbarians and found plants and useful things that may be cultivated in the American climate. This Bureau was made a department of the Government with a Cabinet officer at its head, and not only that, every State in the union and every territory has established a Department of Agriculture. We had a Bureau of Agriculture for quite a number of years in this State. The last Constitution adopted by the people of this State turned that into a department of the State. It is now a Constitutional office and you elect every four years an officer to preside over that department, whose duty it is to extend every benefit to you and to aid you in every way to make your farming successful. I am here for the purpose of telling you something about this department of Agriculture of the State of Kentucky.

Through the good grace of the commissioners I am made his assistant in the State. If there is anything that I know anything about it is agriculture. In fact, I know nothing else and I flatter myself that I am to some extent a practical farmer. I want to say to you that if you would make the State Department of Agriculture a benefit to you as it was intended that it should be a credit to the State, you must uphold the hands of your Commissioners and encourage him to disseminate agricultural literature and seeds, and plants and bulbs and vegetables of the various kinds. He can be a benefit to each one of you, if you will only let him. I am fully persuaded, by my travels all over the State, that this Department of Agriculture is not fully appreciated by the farmers of the State. The legislature saw fit to place in the hands of your Commissioners of Agriculture the sum of $13,000 for the purpose of holding these Institutes all over the State, and for gathering seeds and distributing them and for disseminating agricultural literature. $13,000 is a small sum, but with proper co-operation on the part of the farmers of the State, we will be able to accomplish a vast amount of good. This year we sent out 100 bushels of seed corn last spring. We are now receiving reports from nearly every county in the State. It used to be that only a small sample package of corn was sent; but now we have adopted the rule of not sending to one man less than a bushel; that will plant eight acres and then have enough seed for replanting. He can look after the eight acres and report results, wherefore, when you send a small package he will not give it the special attention it deserves. We also send two bushels of wheat, which will sow an acre and a half. He can afford to keep it separate, thresh it separate and it is good, sell it to his neighbor, and if it is a good variety it will soon become disseminated over the State.

We have applied this principle to all kinds of seeds. We have made improvements. We no longer send the small packages that people pay no attention to.

In addition to holding these Institutes, we have the proceedings published. The papers which are read on the various subjects are edited and published and 25,000 copies of the proceedings of each Institute are scattered broadcast over the State, until the entire State will profit by what you say of your experience in the raising of the various products of your farms.

So you will profit by what people in other counties have said in their Institutes. We will send you papers covering such subjects as the cultivation of Alfalfa, something almost new in Lawrence county as I understand, as well as in other parts of the State. You will get the benefit of the experience of men who have made a success in the raising of Alfalfa. The ladies will get the benefit of the experience of those who have been successful in the raising of poultry and of flowers and who devote their time and attention to the home, laying

PUBLISHED POETRY AS ADS

FISH THAT SHOOTS ITS PREY

Herbert Spencer Once Located American Town Where Price Was Charged for Printing It.

An English tourist was lamenting the late Herbert Spencer's aversion to poetry. "Mr. Spencer," he said, "tailed poetry 'sensual Caterwauling.'

Some of it, to be sure, he excepted from this class. There were parts of Shakespeare that he liked, and he liked Longfellow. But the average poem was caterwauling to him, and the average poet was a caterwauler.

One day I called on Mr. Spencer, and during my call I read to him a poem of W. B. Yeats. The beauty and the dram splendor of this poem impressed even the scientist. "That, I'll admit," he said, "is not caterwauling." He said.
Then, with a dry smile, he took a newspaper clipping from his pocket. "I have been saving this," he said, "to show you.
It is from an American newspaper published in the town of Man-unkarhunk. I think I shall remove to Manunkarhunk. The people set a high valuation on poetry there." I read the clipping. It said: "Original poetry is published on the same terms as advertisements."

Icebergs as Indicators.

In the investigation of the currents round the coast of Newfoundland it has been observed that there is at times a wide difference in the direction of the drift of icebergs, and that of the fish or pellon, which, having no great depth, is governed in its motions by the surface currents and the winds, whereas the icebergs, the larger part of which is submerged to a great depth, following only the movement of the ocean water as a whole, and are uninfluenced by the winds. In consequence, a huge berg may often be seen majestically making its slow advance in opposition to the wind and across the general motion of the fields of fish ex-sounding them. The sealers often take advantage of this fact by mooring their vessels to an iceberg in order to prevent a drift to leeward.

Col. Breckinridge Dead.

Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, the all well-known orator of Lexington, Ky., died last Sunday from the effects of a stroke of paralysis suffered a few days previous. The Lexington Leader pays a beautiful tribute to his memory, and from it we take the following:

"When great men die nations bow their heads with grief.

Their lives have been the common heritage of mankind and the countless thousands who have worshipped at their shrines claim kinship with the dead and come to lay their loving tributes on their graves.

One of the greatest has gone—Col. William C. P. Breckinridge is dead.

"Calmly, without complaint upon his lips or murmured protest in his heart, a soldier, statesman, orator, thinker than whom Kentucky has nurtured few greater sons, passed out of mortal presence shortly before the hour that marked the coming of this Sabbath day.

"Whether the tongue whose cadences men were wont to listen like silver is thushed in eternal silence, or released from the temporary fetters of the last malady, awakes to sing among new and transcendent glories, we cannot look behind the impenetrable veil to see, but this much is true that neither death nor change can for a single moment, rob his neighbors or his race of the impress of his lofty thoughts nor of the almost sublime genius of his soul."

He passed as the soldier passes marching the last enemy with the same stolid, the same gallant and dashing front with which he had faced every other antagonist in his singularly useful and busy life or dare every other danger on every other field. It is to be regretted that yesterday's consternation had been dealt him when the great night gathered as those who sit about his couch anticipate and anxiety awaited the dreadful news that reached the waiting "good-bye" and the responsive "God speed" till they should clasp hands again according to the promise.

Measuring its loss by the height and depth of the single life that is gone out, the whole community joins with those who feel this sorrow deepest, and the first thought of those who knew the dead and know the living is that of sympathy that cannot altogether be told in words; and as he passes out upon the arm of death—death the servant and not the master—to the great white camp just across on the other side of the hill where the friendly "shade of the trees" sustains his old comrades of the deathless sixties, and where we are told the dead shall walk again in the newness of life" with the friends of mortal days, the leader minglest his brief tribute, none the less sincere because humble."

The trustees of the late Cecil Rhodes the South African multimillionaire who left the bulk of his great fortune to education, have notified the committee for Kentucky that another scholarship will be awarded in January, 1905. Clarke Tandy, Hopkinsville, a graduate of the State College, won the first scholarship and he is now at Oxford University enrolled as a student.
The appointment will be made by competitive examination to be held at Lexington some time in January.
For all practical purposes it is limited to college graduates, as it is useless for any without college training to undertake the examination. Full information may be obtained from either Prof. Arthur Vager, chairman of the George Washington, or Dr. John L. Weber, Secretary of Winchester.

The ceremonies and banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce of Calfestburg in connection with the formal opening of the Big Sandy river to slackwater navigation was in great elegance. The program was well carried out and the addresses were very interesting.

With one exception all the trains leaving Louisville are carrying tanks of water, the drought having made it necessary. Stock ponds are dried up all over the state in consequence of the short rainfall of the past few months.

The annual estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1905 aggregate $114,530,635, an increase over the last appropriation of $17,372,148.

A Real Surprise.

parties and receptions and the like which are intended to give the recipient a surprise usually find everyone ready and prepared. But a very delightful function occurred on the evening of the 21st at the residence of Judge W. T. Burns, intended as a surprise for his estimable wife, which was pleasantly surprising and surprisingly pleasant. The occasion was Mrs. Burns' birthday, and her family planned and successfully executed an entertainment for her and her numerous friends which should mark all. It was the twenty-first day of November, 1904, as a fair white along the peaceful journey of the good woman whom everybody loves and respects. It required considerable thought to carry out the plan for a reception, prepare refreshments, and all that sort of thing, and not expose the secret. But it was done in this instance, and done so well that the lady of the house remained in a state of ignorance of what was being done until her friends, present-laden, began to assemble. The refreshments, delicious and abundant, you may be assured, were prepared elsewhere, other arrangements were made behind closed doors, so that for once a surprise really surprised. The guests were all surprised, and these are that one of the Currys is shot in the breast, Mrs. Wallace, wife of John Wallace Wallace, is shot in the leg, and that John Wallace's "saloon" goods and household furniture is taken back to Iowa in connection with the $75,000 Pollock diamond robbery. To these circumstances Mr. Thomas attributes this attack on his home.

An affray occurred a short distance below the mouth of Rockcastle creek, this county, last Saturday which has created a great deal of excitement and much bitter feeling, and there will probably be more gun play and more blood shed before the incident is closed. Diligent inquiry effects statements from one side only, as most of the other side is said to be on the "other side", that is, in West Virginia. There seem to be but three things upon which all are agreed, and these are that one of the Currys is shot in the breast, Mrs. Wallace, wife of John Wallace Wallace, is shot in the leg, and that John Wallace's "saloon" goods and household furniture is taken back to Iowa in connection with the $75,000 Pollock diamond robbery. To these circumstances Mr. Thomas attributes this attack on his home.

Repairs began on the M. E. Church South last Monday and will be more extensive than was at first planned.

It was intended to fresco the walls and ceiling, repair the floor, and build a platform for the choir. This could not have been done in a couple of weeks, but upon tearing up the floor it was found that the joists were too far gone to be fit for use, and it was determined to make a good job by put ting in entirely new floor and joists throughout. It is thought that this and the other work can be done in three weeks, thus keeping the church closed two Sundays instead of one.

In the meantime the Wallaces are informed, they swore out warrants charging the Currys with shooting and robbery of property. Mrs. Wallace also had her wound dressed. So far nine of the parties has been arrested, and few if any are falling over themselves in their haste to execute the warrants.

It is further said that Wallace has offered a reward of $150 for the arrest of the guilty parties, and that he went down the river Tuesday for the purpose of securing the services of a detective. Some time ago Wallace more generally known simply as John Wallace, had a difficulty with one Lew Dillon, and we understand that he chased Dillon with instigating the raids on his illegal saloon. At the outset this is a one-sided story.

When the other side is heard from it shall have its sayings, too.

On Tuesday morning Wallace attacked a man named Jones on the streets of Louisa and pounded him severely.

He charged Jones with having been connected with the raid in some relative way. He escaped with a fine of $2.

WHISKEY

Causes Bloodshed and A Stormy Time Generally.

An affray occurred a short distance below the mouth of Rockcastle creek, this county, last Saturday which has created a great deal of excitement and much bitter feeling, and there will probably be more gun play and more blood shed before the incident is closed. Diligent inquiry effects statements from one side only, as most of the other side is said to be on the "other side", that is, in West Virginia. There seem to be but three things upon which all are agreed, and these are that one of the Currys is shot in the breast, Mrs. Wallace, wife of John Wallace Wallace, is shot in the leg, and that John Wallace's "saloon" goods and household furniture is taken back to Iowa in connection with the $75,000 Pollock diamond robbery. To these circumstances Mr. Thomas attributes this attack on his home.

Residence Dynamited.

The following refers to a brother of B. F. and J. C. Thomas, of this place, who has visited them here: Omaha, Neb., Nov. 22.—The home of Elmer E. Thomas, a prominent lawyer of thin city and attorney for the Civil Federation, was badly wrecked by a bomb placed on the front porch at 2 o'clock this morning. Mr. Thomas and his family were in the house at the time and he considers it miraculous that none of them was injured. Attorney Thomas has been active for some time in the prosecution of saloon keepers charged with a violation of the Sloam law, which provides for midnight and Sunday closing of saloons. He has also been active for the Civil Federation in the heavy corpus proceedings by which Thomas Dennis has sought to avoid being taken back to Iowa in connection with the $75,000 Pollock diamond robbery. To these circumstances Mr. Thomas attributes this attack on his home.

PERSONALS.

J. W. Woods, of Ashland, was here Saturday. County Clerk Skeens was in Catlettsburg Saturday. Earl McClure made a business visit to Pikeville last week. Mrs. C. T. Reynolds, of Huntington, is here visiting home folks. Miss Rutledge, of Grayson, is the guest of Miss Elm Hayes. Mrs. Rachel Hatchett, of Kellogg, is the guest of Louisa relatives. M. S. Burns went to Catlettsburg Wednesday to the football game. Misses Lizzie and Estelle Ward have returned from a visit at Potters. W. D. O'Neal returned Saturday from a business trip to Huntington. Mrs. Ed Burgess, of Georges Creek, was shopping in Louisa Saturday. Mrs. Zara Johnson is in Lexington the guest of her son, J. R. Johnson. D. J. Hartman and family returned home Thursday after a visit here. Dr. J. C. Jenks, the dentist, has gone to Chicago to spend Thanksgiving with friends.

BUSSEYVILLE.

In our last letter we failed to mention the fact that Mrs. Lackey had visited our school, and from the way she discusses the school work she is the right person in the right place, and knows exactly how schools should be managed. The parsonage for the Blaine Circuit, near the forks of Blaine, is nearing completion, and when finished it will be one of the most convenient little homes in the country. Rev. Talbot filled his pulpit at Evergreen church last Sunday morning and delivered quite an able sermon from the text found in 1st John, 3-1. Rev. Grizzel preached here Sunday a large congregation gathered to hear the new divine, this being his first trip among us. Mrs. Geo. Picklesimer was called here last Tuesday by a message from little Effie, small daughter of Johns Thompson, who is a victim of pneumonia. The little sufferer is doing very well and her recovery is expected. D. J. Casry, of Paintsville, is "killing" brick here now and the process of burning will begin soon. Wilson & Co., from Lick creek, are here with their corn husking machine and judging from the number of spectators it is as great a show as Robinson's circus. A real estate deal or two is under way here, but not far enough along to give particulars yet. Burkhardt Bess

FALLSBURG.

Wm. Sherridge's funeral was preached here a short time ago and there were probably over 1000 persons present. The relatives served dinner to all who would partake.

Jesse Bernard got badly crippled a short time since by his team running away with him. His condition looked serious for awhile, but Dr. Carter has him in good condition.

Luther Hutchison, who has been low with typhoid, is now able to walk about.

Henry Hogg, Sr., has moved to the C. M. Marcum place and is repairing all the buildings.

The saw mill on Wm. Savage's place is running almost every day.

The mill at Fuller station will begin sawing this week. It will cut a lot of beech and gum.

If the whole county had voted like Fatsburg the Democrats would not have gone up Salt river.

There is much complaint of dry weather, but its a mighty dry spell doesn't nobody any good. The condition of the roads is excellent as a result of the dry weather and teams are hauling big loads of lumber and teams.

Zach Webb and Andy Woods are kept busy shoeing horses and repairing wagons.

The bridge across Blaine just above the falls has been re-constructed.

Prof. Ekers has a good school.

Rev. Cassady preached at Huletts branch Sunday. U. E. S.
